

ARTIST #11

LA MAISON DU WHISKY

AUCHENTOSHAN 1991 - AGED 30 YEARS

Single Malt Scotch Whisky ▪ Cask Strength 62.8%
Distilled in 1991 – Bottled in 2021 ▪ Aged in Hogshead
Single Cask ▪ 164 Bottles ▪ 700 ml

Founded in 1956, La Maison du Whisky is one of the leading independent specialists in the distribution of rare whiskies in France and overseas. Selecting spirits has been a fundamental part of La Maison du Whisky's work, a relentless quest for rare casks that has driven our everyday activities. In 2011, our cask selection mission took on a new dimension when we decided to create our own range of independent bottlings: the ARTIST range was born.

For the very first time in its history, a special ARTIST range has been developed exclusively for the American market, with 5 exclusive single cask Single Malt Scotch whiskies, bottled at cask strength in very limited quantities. Featuring some of Scotland's most revered and sought-after names, these casks represent the best whiskies our expert selection team has tasted over the last year.

Auchentoshan produces the most iconic single malt of the Lowlands. The triple distillation (rare in Scotland) and the distillate's very high alcohol content out of the still enable the production of a fine, subtle, soft and elegant single malt that is often marked by herbal and citrus notes.

Like many legendary single malts, this venerable Auchentoshan shows great complexity and yet remains surprisingly easy to drink.

The intricate aromas and flavors are perfectly balanced to convey the wonderfully rustic character of this revered Lowlands single malt within a remarkably fresh framework.

Profile: Ample and exciting.

Nose: Lavender, green peppercorn, apple pie, cumin, almond, mango, cinnamon bark.

Palate: Pineapple, lychee, apple jelly, beeswax, fig, date, cut grass.

Finish: Daisy, iris, citrus, coffee, ginger, roasted pineapple, fig, malted barley, chocolate, rose petal.

ARTIST Catherine Ludeau, "Fusion Métal #9"